

New RAM English Zone Typical mistakes 20

A: Welcome back to RAM English Zone 'strefa angielskiego' on typical mistakes in English.

B: And today we're going to discuss and explain 2 typical mistakes.

A: The mistakes are: 'more than 35 degress' and 'on a party'.

B: So, please listen carefully if you want to speak better English!

A: OK, so let's see where are we today? - I'll choose a card... (rustle)

B: And today, we are at the swimming pool.

A: Fantastic, OK, action.

B: Oh, I love the swimming pool, don't you? I haven't been here for such a long time and there's not many people here today.

A: Yeah, it's true. This is a really nice aqua park as well, isn't it? It's quite er, it's quite warm in here. I heard that it's actually more than 35 degrees.

B: Yeah, it's over 35 degrees. Yeah, that's right, it's pretty hot, isn't it?

A: It is. Have you been in the big pool, by the way?

B: Yes, I've been in the big pool but it was full of people splashing round so I much prefer this pool.

A: OK, in fact, Verity, you look great of course in your swimming costume, but um... did you go to a party yesterday?

B: Yes, yesterday I was on a party with all my friends so I feel a little bit rough now -my head hurts.

A: Ok, but I think after a few lengths, you're gonna feel much better. And you can also go the sauna to sweat it out.

B: I think I might do that.

A: OK, let's put it into context.

B: The temperature was over 35 degrees. Yesterday I was at a party.

A: And that's why you're a little bit mashed today.

B: Yes.

A: All right, anyway, putting this into context, your own personal context - this is the best way to remember the correct English. You'll never forget it that way.

B: New RAM English Zone on typical mistakes.

A: With Terry Clark-Ward, and the very talented, Verity Duncan.
